Singapore individual and corporate tax residents will enjoy 2.5 times tax deductions effective from 1 January 2016 to 31 December 2026.

Note from IRAS: Donors are required to provide their tax reference numbers (e.g., NRIC, FIN, UEN) to SMU when they make their donations in order to be given tax deductions on the donations. If tax reference numbers are provided, deductions will be automatically included in tax assessments. IRAS will no longer accept claims for tax deduction based on donation receipts.

If you are an individual donor, by submitting this Form, you hereby agree to the collection, use and disclosure of your personal data by Singapore Management University ("SMU"), for the purposes of receiving donations for the advancement of education ("Purpose"). Your personal data will be used for the Purpose, including where necessary or applicable, the disclosure of your personal data to partners or to affiliates of SMU, as the case may be for the Purpose. In this regard, you confirm that the personal data you have provided is complete and accurate.

SMU respects the privacy of individuals and recognizes the importance of the personal data you have entrusted with us and believe that it is our responsibility to properly manage, protect, process, use and disclose your personal data. We will collect, use, disclose and protect your personal data in accordance with the Singapore Personal Data Protection Act 2012. If you would like to find out more about SMU's Personal Data Protection Statement, please visit <https://www.smu.edu.sg/personal-data-protection-statement>.

You may withdraw your consent for the collection, use and disclosure of your personal data for the Purpose, at any point in time, by sending your request to giving@smu.edu.sg. However, please note that this may affect our administration of the Purpose to you. Your withdrawal will be effective within 30 (thirty) days of such a request.
